OUR SERVICES

AIR FREIGHT

The cargo which is employed with regard to shipping goods and products through air is termed as Air Freight. Shipwell provides multitudinous shipping options whereby delicate products can be transferred across the globe. This can help you to carve your niche in international trade. We also make sure that the custom clearance procedures are done suitably. Our company micro manages every aspect pertaining to the delivery of services. Thus, the safety of your goods is ensured essentially.

OCEAN FREIGHT

Since 90% of the goods and services in global commerce is transported via Sea Freight, this service of us can immensely help you to scale up your business. Though Ocean Freight involves umpteen number of complications, an experienced hand can ship your products safely to the destination. We primarily employ containers of various sizes keeping in mind the texture and shape of the goods to be shipped. We also provide a varied range of tariff and costs for you to choose from.

LAND TRANSPORTATION

This is one of the most cost-effective and frequently used mode of shipping. This traditional means of transport is efficient while exporting large cargos of goods. The delivery timings of the products will be highly based on the location and pick up options. With an alarming experience of more than 20 years in this realm, we are one of the most sought after Road Transport Service provider in UAE and gulf countries. We deliver services within comparatively less time. All of our transactions are transparent and open to scrutiny. With regard to employees and customer service, you will need no other option.

EXPRESS SHIPMENT

Express Shipment, as the name suggests, is used to transport products which should be delivered within a short period of time. Many-a-time, the shipments are exported overnight.

The transport of the goods in air couriers account for the short delivery time of the products. Express Shipping is comparatively expensive. The cost of the delivery is charged along with the amount of the product.

WAREHOUSING & DISTRIBUTION

Warehousing is yet another distinction of Shipwell. We assemble our products at the prescribed warehouses from where all of your goods would get transported to the expected regions. We supply temporary and long-period storage service options. All of the goods are securely stored. Special storing slots are allotted to clients as per their requirements. Every material is packed and packaged as per the quality and texture.

CHARTERING

Shipwell also endorses chartering services, wherein you would be allowed to rent ships on periodical basis. You can either utilize this provision to transport your own cargo or you may rent it to a second party as per your requirements. This is yet another business strategy which can escalate your profits. This service is provided on a contract basis and this facility ensures the safe delivery of products along remote locations.

PROJECT LOGISTICS

We also provide services in project logistics which is associated with the planning and shipping of the transport. The goods which are dispatched are supervised timely. The shipments are exported safely to the prescribed sites and are used only for specific construction projects.

Project Logistics are extensively employed in scenarios where the construction requires the export of heavy equipment. Since various legal procedures are involved applying Project Logistics can be a complex process.

CONTAINER PACKING

In the realm of shipping, packing and assorting the products is very pertinent. Glass, candles, and other delicate items are packaged in separate manner whereby the safety of these products are ensured. Dressing of the products will also be done by expert technicians in order to prevent decay. Sorting and segregating the products on the basis of their material is also done during the time of packaging. Labels are also printed on to the shipments during this stage.

CROSS TRADES

Cross Trade is yet another mode of exchange where the purchase takes place without documenting the exchange. This is mostly employed when a client is willing to buy a product which is being sold by another client. In most cases, mediators can interfere in between. Cross Trades are liable to the prevalent market price and cost.

EXPRESS SHIPMENT

Express Shipment, as the name suggests, is used to transport products which should be delivered within a short period of time. Many-a-time, the shipments are exported overnight. The transport of the goods in air couriers account for the short delivery time of the products. Express Shipping is comparatively expensive. The cost of the delivery is charged along with the amount of the product.

GROUPAGE CONTAINER

We transport Cargo goods in two ways viz., as Full Container Load also termed as FCL or as Less Than Container load or LCL. Groupage containers sort the shipments which are mostly Less Than Container Loads and export them to various consumers in a single freight container. The containers are opted on the basis of the volume it could bear. Subsequently, HBL or House Bills of Lading will be provided to the consumers whose goods are to be shipped.

In various instances, we also employ a Full Container Load Shipment wherein the cargo is exported in a whole shipping container. The products which are being transported in this way would not be shared among other counterparts.

The merchandise could use the entire space allotted to them. This reduces the risk of the products getting tampered and broken. FCL shipments are delivered faster than LCL services.
